10. It adds thirty-five members to the legislature and leaves their pay and the length of their sessions unlimited.

11. It creates a county court into which creay case tried before a Justice of the Peace in the county may be appealed, and in which crecy crime, less than friony, may be tried, thus compelling the people to astend court as jurers, suitors, or winesses, every day in the year, Sundays excepted (perhaps), and settles nothing, as every case tried by it may be appealed to the Circuit Court. It is simply a muchine by which pettiloggers may manufac-working his command as men have rarely been worked before, and in a manner that does nothing towards making them adepts in the military art. The excavation of trenches, the construction of abouts, the management of transportation and supplies, the care of the wounded and sick, dec., dec., are not necessarily soldierly accomplishments. And so all along the line which the care of the wounded and sick, &c., &c., are not necessarily soldierly accomplishments. And so all along the line which the armies of the Republic occupy—work is the rule—work that any strong hands can do.

The President has called for 100,000 men. We are glad of it. He will get them—white men—sons of our farmers, mechanics, laborers, merchants, bankers and speculators. But why not at the same time suggest to McClellan (Hunter needs no nindge of that sort,) that he is slightly sapheaded not to employ the blacks, tens of thousands of which—loyal, earnest, active, and obedhent—he may have for the asking. All West Tennessee is awarming with negroes who are only waiting the signal to rush soto Halleck's camp, and do anything—the hardest labor, the most distasteful tasks—so that they may have food, protection and, finally, freedom therefor. They are fought off with bayonets, whether they come with offers of intelligence from the enemy, or holding out their hards begging to releve our brothers of the line of the same of the same were promptly and satisfactorily. But we maintain that while white men are asked for to do the fighting, the services of the blacks should not be rejected when they proffer to do the fighting, the services of the hlacks should not be rejected when they proffer to do the fighting, the services of the blacks should not be rejected when they proffer to do the fighting, the services of the blacks should not be rejected when they proffer to do the fighting, the services of the blacks should not be rejected when they proffer to do the fighting, the services of the blacks should not be rejected when they for the total the same were growed to the shor. Helease the men who are employed now in unsoldierly work, and the call for volunteers will as once be answered. The whole levy of 100,000 is ready at the hand of Government, if that hand will but reach itself forth to take it. State for the same time the proposed Agricultural College Bill.

AN OLD CITEEN.

CHICAGO, May 28, 1893.

Rditors Tribune:

Perhaps it may interest your Chicago readers to know that the daring feat of saving the bridge across the Tennessoe River at Decatur, which was tarred and filled with cotton, was accomplished by the well known Chicago company, the "Lincoln Rifles," who were the first to go to Cairo in 1961, but are now company F of the 24th Illinois, under Capt A. Kovats, under whose direction when the company strived at the bridge and seeleg it in flames, the men threw off their shoes and with the aid of their canteens extinguished the firmes and saved the bridge, and with it thousands of dollars worth of cotton.

Yours,

Col. Kirk.

We regret to learn that Col. Kirk, of the 34th Illinois, who commanded the fifth brigate in McCook's division of the corps d'armes under Buell, and was wounded at the battle under Buell, and was wounded at the battle under Breil, and was wounded at the battle of Shiloh, is very low from the effects of the serious wound. He was struck in the shoulder. Doubts are entertained of his recovery. He is at Louisville. We sincerely hope his life may be spared for his friends and his heartily devoted to the cause of the Union.

Rev. Mr. Shotwell, a Baptist preacher at Wheatland, N. Y., has been indulging in very unclerical familiarity with the wife of one of his parishioners named Graham, for which he received a very sowere castigation from the indignant husband. And thus the matter stands at present. The New York papers states that Maj.

were annoying our men, who were engaged in it throwing up a breastwork. This work had been constructed through the woods to this open space from the right, but so soon as the working parties showed themselves in front of the open space, the robels fired upon them from a dense copee, which was capable of afording shelter to a regiment of sharpshooters. Of the first party of our men that showed themselves, one was instantly killed by a rife ball, and two or three were wounded. I saw the ball that thiled this man. It was an Engitish rife ball. Other balls strack the trees all about; in fact it was found impossible to go on with the work until the enemy were dislodged. We scoordingly opened upon them with field pieces at long range, throwing shell and spherical case shot, which was promptly returned. One shell exploded quite near Gov, Morton of Indians, who had ridden up upon hearing the firing. Gov. Morton was mounted upon a white horse, and presented a conspicuous mark to the enemy's sharp shooters. Adjutant General L. Noblagof the same State also narrowly escaped being wounded by a shell. The rebels were finally driven from their position, but with the loss of twenty-twe killed on our side. The rumber of wounded was proportionstely large. The rebel loss I have not heard. They generally carried off their dead and wounded. This enabled our forces to continue the intrenchments in front of the opening, which is now being done. Gen. of the rebel fortifications at any point on their whole line of defense. So thick are the works whole line of defense. So thick are the works that we will not probably come upon them till we get within their range, although we have yet to find their rifle-pits, so often spoken of by contrabands and deserters. Behind that is the abattle pronounced to be most formidable. These obstructions, of course, come before their first line of batteries.

Nothing important has occurred today, nor is their likely to be, I imagine, until our reinforcements arrive, which are expected daily. The 5th Minuscota arrived yesterday, all the way from that distant State. The poor fellows will find quite a change in the weather at this point.

There is not so much sickness in the army as there was during the late changeable weather. It is still quite serious, however and principally typhoid and diarrhea; the latter attack.

CONFISCATION OF REBEL PROPERTY. Passage of the Bill by the House. ANALYSIS OF THE VOTE.

WARRINGTON, Monday, May 26, 1882. The House of Representatives voted to-de The House of Representatives voted to-day by fourteen majority to confiscate the property of rebels, but refused by four majority to touch their slaves. Nine members elected as Republicans, viz: Messrs, Dawes, (to the great sacrifice and regret of his friends, Delso, Diven, Granger, Harrison, Horton, Nico of Mass, and Train, voted against conficcation, dixteen Republicans, including beside the nine mentioned above, Messrs. Dunn, Killinger, Mitchell, Nixon, Porter, Stratton and Trimble voted against emancipation.

Stratton and Trimble voted against emancipation.

Mr. Eliot stated in his speech closing the discussion, that the confuscation bill was drawn by Mr. Noell of Missourt, but he was the only Democrat who voted for either bill.
Mesars, Br. wn and Whalley of Virginia were the only other border State members who voted for confuscation. Mr. Segar of Virginia

That Massachusetts should east half her yotes in favor of lenisacy to rebels and non-interference with alsavery, is the dircumstance most regretted by the opponents of this research to the control of the standard of the standard of the standard of the standard of the other the sentiments of the people of the old Bay Siste. Had three of her representatives roted yes on the bill the result of the vote on the bill of Liberty would have been changed.

Of the abentees, seven are colonels commanding forces, one a surgeon in the field, viz.: Messrs. Fouke, Jackson, Logan, Marstum, McKean, Sherman, Van Wyck, and Vandever. Three elected as Democrats, and five as Republicans. Six were paired; Mr. Bingham with Mr. White of Ohio, Mr. Morris with Mr. Shellabarger, and Mr. Franchot with Mr. Vibbard. Mr. Walton of Maine, left for home about a week ago, to attend to his du ties as Jadge of the Suprame Court of the State.

Mr. Conway, of Kansas, although he has been if for several weeks and has not been in his seat since his convalescence, was at the Capitol on Thursday or Friday, and was well enough to go to Baltimore, linder the advice of his physician, has Saturday. Of the absence of Messrs. Burnham and Covode we have heard no explanation.

We cannot, in fairness, omit to state the fact that Luther Hanchett of Wisconsin, whose absence on important occasions has frequently been noted, appeared on the floor too last to vote on the confiscation bill. His excuse was a "constituent." He sanswered to his name, however, when the roll was called railroad by which he was to come from Balti-more before the hour for his departure had arrived. But the House was fuller than on any previous important occasion this session. Dr. John W. Walince, of Pennsylvania, left a sick hed to do his day. The following are the yeas and mays on the parage of the Confiscation bill. It provides to adopt the synopsis as furnished on the 13th of May, adding the following at the end of the fifth class of persons named:

and the fact that he retreated so far in the face of an enemy so over wheiling, and crossed his men in good order and good spirits, is taken as 1 roof of the highest generalship. No other can re-could have kept Jackson from crossing in o Maryland.

The dispatch this morning received from Gen. Banka, dated at Williamsport, Md., and annobucing the belief that his whole force, trains and all, would cross the Potomac in safety, was helied with the liveliest satisfaction. The dispatch from the Sacrestary of War, which Gun. Banks refers to as having relied to his troops amid the liveliest. War, which Gen. Banks refers to as having read to his troops smid the liveliest cheers, is understood to have contained the tracks of the President and Secretary for his excellent conduct of the restreat. High military authority pronounces it one of the most materly movements of the war, and requise officers here, who have been also to asknowledge the generalship of Gen. Banks, now accord to him great tagt and ability as a commander. The fact that at Winchester, with a small force of less than five thousand seen, he

The usual afternoon sension of the Sabbath school was not held, and the evening services dispensed with. The cause of the threat made by some in the crowed is obvious, when it is known that nearly all the members of the congregation and those who attend the services are avowed secessionists.

"In the aiternoon a number of openly-avowed secessionists, in various sections of the city, were attacked by the Union men and whipped, on account of their smallation and rejoching over the defeat of Cot. There was no train from Baltimore yesterday morning over the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad, and no train was sent out last evening for that city. The train, however, arrived from Cumberland as usual.

There was telegraphic communication with all the stalious along the road yesterday morning, but during the fore part of the day it was cut off, and last evening communication by telegraph could only be had as far as Green Spring Run, which is thirteen mise east of Cumberland. He was willing to devote his time and money to this work, and transfer all would do the same. Chiesgo had promised Adjutant General Failer flat one regiment at least should be forthcoming by Friday night, and that must be fulfilled.

Major Hough was followed by Peter Page, Esq., Col. Tucker, and lastly by Col. Cameron, who said that the regiments now at Camp Douglas were under marching orders and ready and anxions to take the field. As soon as they could be relieved they would do so, and he hoped and knew that Chicago would specialties the camps and allow them to go.

REMARKS OF ADJ. GEN. PULLER.

Adjutant Gen. Fuller was then introduced to the sudience. He stated that he had come to the meeting for but one object, and that was, to ascertain how many men had been enrolled te-day. He spoke of the prosperity and growth of Chicago; that less than any other city had she suffered by this war, and served by this war, and sourced to the sudience. Other protions of the mill were occupied by which it is expected to eccupied, include to each suffered to the manner. THURSDAY EVENING, May 19, 1861, would very much prefer even six per cent to the perfect idicases in which they have been forced to leave a very large amount of their capital. We again suggest the fostering of our manufacturing leave a very large amount of their capital. We again suggrest the fostering of our manufacturing interests as one of the best and most profitable way to sumploy a large part of our surplus capital. In New York exchange we find nothing new to notice. Bankers pay par@b/s, and the carrent selling pirics is sip per cent penulavia. Leading houses make concessions of a fraction to best customers. Gold is not quitle so firm, and sellers are more plenty. The raises are, however, nearly the name, vis: buying, 20,814; selling, 30,924 per cont, premium. Transactions limited.
